

One-Room Schoolhouse Recreation

Nobleboro Central School students visit during the year to have the classroom experience of a one-room schoolhouse as recreated by volunteers. Students enjoy learning about tools, home life, writing with chalk on slate tablets, the wringer washer and corn sheller. The students write with quill pens, do arithmetic and reading, enjoy a cornbread break, and finish the morning with a tour of the Museum. The room is heated solely by the wonderful old wood stove.
